

Health xChange

10 speakers share innovative approaches that have made community engaged research matter

Join us for an evening of PechaKucha and networking

Host: Michael Unger

Nerd Nite YVR

Faith Eiboff

A peer-driven initiative to engage formerly homeless citizens in knowledge exchange

Anastasia Gaisenok

From surviving to thriving: Critical health literacy for youth

Jesse Kancir

This book will save a life: The power of medical humanities

Patrick McDougall

Finishing the story: Using spoken word poetry to translate research findings

Peter Wood

The right to a healthy environment: Building a movement to change Canada's constitution

Jonathan Aitken

The NYC PARCS project: Using human-centered design to maximize use of community parks in Harlem

Olivier Ferlatte

Still Here (photo voice)

Christa Hoy

Choose to move: A partnership approach to enhance the health of older adults

Natasha Kolida

The power of blogs as vessels of knowledge translation

Alina McKay

Making research accessible initiative: Developing an online platform for information exchange

Tickets are free, but space is limited

May 9, 2017 | 6 – 9 p.m. | #HealthxChange
Steamworks Brew Pub | 375 Water Street, Vancouver

Visit <https://healthxchange-may9.eventbrite.ca> to register